WORKSHOP FIVE

Keeping it Real—The Causes of Recidivism

"If your dream is big enough not even your enemies can stop you." No one awakens and says to him/herself "today is a good day to fail." We all seek ways to be successful but often can't find the correct paths to actually make it. Often times the road that appears the easiest is the one leading to heartache and despair. After attending this workshop, you will have some tools to help others examine their lives and learn what not to do. Our presenter will share his knowledge as well as some personal experiences with the topic.

Presenter: Winfred Payne—Executive Director, Alternatives, Minneapolis, MN. He also serves as a mentor and life coach

WORKSHOP SIX

Domestic assault, Orders for Protection and the obsessed abuser

Several cases have been in the news in the past year where men who are charged or convicted of assaulting women repeatedly ignore protection orders. A couple cases ended tragically in 2009. Why do abusers refuse to leave their victims alone? How seriously should we, as pretrial professionals, treat these misdemeanors and gross misdemeanors? How effective are orders for protection? What options do women have to protect themselves and escape the harassment? This workshop will discuss these questions and will examine the issue of domestic violence from both sides.

Presenter: Pamela Alexander — Executive Director of the Council on Crime and Justice and former Judge of the Hennepin County District Court

CONFERENCE OVERVIEW:

GENERAL SESSION I
8:45 A.M.—10:15 A.M.

“Closing the Cultural Competence Gap”

We've all heard of “Cultural Competency”, and all of our agencies, Governmental or Non-Governmental, have Affirmative Action Plans in place. We talk about meeting those goals and we try to abide by laws, but we never consider our own agencies when talking about cultural competency. In order for us to effectively address the issues of our participant population, we must understand the role we play in the relationship. Andre Koen is an energetic presenter, a powerful communicator and a dynamic teacher who will share first hand knowledge of how he helped Anoka County implement a cultural competence model that really works! This opening session will be both informative and fun and will give participants the knowledge we need to communicate better across all cultural lines. This workshop closes that gap between theory and reality.

Presenter: Andre Koen currently serves as the EEO/Affirmative Action Diversity Coordinator for Anoka County, Minnesota. Andre integrates his abilities as an improvisational comedian, large group facilitator, keynote speaker, and classroom teacher to captivate and educate his audience. Andre believes that everyone has the capacity for leadership, and he facilitates conferences, large and small, throughout the country.

We will look at the successes as well as what has been learned and changed over time. This workshop will also take a look at other Specialty Courts with discussion focusing on their intent and success.

Somali Culture — An overview and more

Back by popular demand, this workshop will be an overview of the Somali culture. We will learn important background and historical information about Somalia and issues immigrants face when relocating to another country. We will also learn what we should keep in mind when working with our Somali clients and we will get updates on Somali youth issues and gangs, complicated immigration situations and the most important issues facing Somalis living in Minnesota.
